

Jason Krumholz

Education	2004 - present	Graduate School of Oceanography	Narragansett, RI
	Ph.D. Candidate: Biological Oceanography 3.8 G.P.A
	1998 - 2001	Lawrence University	Appleton, WI
	B.A. in Biology, June 2001 3.4 G.P.A
Related Work Experience	2005-2006	URI Coastal Institute	Narragansett, RI
	Coastal Institute IGERT Fellowship integrated natural and social sciences to develop solutions to coastal problems.
	2004-2005	GSO Marine Ecosystems Lab	Narragansett, RI
	Graduate Research Assistant Worked on projects involved in the measurement of estuarine ecosystem health including EPA National Coastal Assessment and MWRA Boston Harbor sewage outfall project.
	1999-2001	Lawrence University	Appleton, WI
	Lab Assistant Lab assistant for General Zoology, Aquatic Ecology and Vertebrate Morphology
	2001	Center for Talented Youth	Baltimore, MD
	Lab Instructor Developed and administered lessons, labs and course planning for summer science classes for gifted students
	2000	Chelonian Research Foundation	Leominster, MA
	Research Assistant Conducted fieldwork on eastern painted turtle fecundity and egg laying patterns
Honors and Awards	2006: AAAS Excellence in Science Sponsorship 2005: Robert Lloyd Fellowship from RI Surfrider 2005: NSF IGERT Fellowship in Coastal Management and Policy 2004: Alumni Fellowship to attend University of Rhode Island GSO 1998-2001: Lawrence University Trustee scholarship for tuition
Activities and Interests	SCUBA diving, ice hockey, kayaking, skiing, hiking, fishing, and anything else outside. I also breed African Cichlids, enjoy science fiction, and brewing homemade beer.		